GEN. ROBT. TOOMBS died at his home in Washington, Ga. on Tuesday.

JOHN W. DANIELS has been elected senator from Virginia to succeed Mahone.

B. GRANT BROWN, the candidate for Vice President on the Greeley ticket, died last Sunday morning.

SENATOR EDMUNDS has introduced a bill granting a pension to Mrs. Gen. Grant, and also granting her franking privileges.

THE President's message will be found in full on our inside pages. We can not conscientiously insist on anybody reading all of it, but we will all read the "sub heads" that indicate the topics treated.

JUDGE MARTIN, of Atchison, overruled the motion for a new trial in the case of Wm. Baldwin, recently convicted of murdering his sister, and has passed the death sentence upon him. An appeal will be taken to the Supreme Court, but a reversal of the judgment is not looked for.

THE December Harper's Magazine, the "Christmas number," proves to be by no means the end of the Harper Christmasing, for Harper's Weekly and Harper's Young People both announce unusually fine Christmas issues, and the January Magazine will also include some Christmas material, particularly an account by Archibald Forbes, the war correspondent, of "Christmas-tide with the Germans before Paris," with illustrations by Sidney P. Hall; and a "plantation echo" of Christmas time, called "Uncle Edinburg's Drowsy," by the author of "Marse Chan," who is making a noteworthy reputation among the newer Southern writers.

THE SCHOOL ENTERTAINMENT.
Considering the stormy night, a very fair audience assembled at the Opera

House last Friday night, to listen to the programme given by the pupils of the High School.

After a few introductory remarks by Prof. Olin, explaining the objects of the entertainment, the programme was begun by music, a trio, by Prof. Olin and A. C. and C. F. Scott. Mr. Fred Funtun was then introduced and told the story of "Shamus O'Brien" in a very effective and entertaining manner. Fred handles the Irish as though to the manner born, and his rendition of the difficult piece was creditable throughout.

Miss Dee Arnold followed with an essay which was very carefully written, and in point of language and general literary construction, was excellent. It contained a number of ideas too, and there were several comparisons that were fairly carried out. We may say that Miss Dee is to be congratulated upon avoiding one pit-fall into which most young ladies are assured when they attempt to write an essay—she didn't preach.

The essay was followed by a quartette, sung by Misses Lola Smeltzer and Fanny McClure, and Messrs. A. C. and C. F. Scott. Miss Lola Smeltzer then recited the touching story of the "Death of Little Joe" in a manner that even added force to the pathetic words. Miss Lola's voice and bearing were admirably suited to the character of the selection.

In marked contrast to the quiet pathos of this recitation, was the stir and strength of Miss May Ewing's "King Robert of Sicily" which followed it. Miss Ewing seems entirely at home on the platform, and she entered into the spirit of the words she spoke with a freedom that made it a pleasure to hear her.

Miss Mabel Clark then sang a solo, which was a difficult one for an amateur to attempt, and sang it well. This is the first time Miss Clark has sung a solo in public, and many who heard her were surprised to note the strength and sweetness of her voice. With proper cultivation she will certainly make a very pleasing singer.

The debate followed upon the question of Woman Suffrage, Mr. O. O. Adams taking the affirmative and the other the negative. It was argued on both sides with all the zeal of conviction and with no little ingenuity and humor.

The last performance on the literary part of the programme was a recitation, "Our Folks," by Miss Maud Richards. Although so young Miss Maud has long been a favorite with Iola audiences, and on this occasion she fully met all expectations, high as they were. After a closing song by the quartette and a few words of thanks from Prof. Olin the audience was dismissed.

Reviewing the entertainment as a whole, the only criticism we would make would be that most of the selections were too long. We think that a greater number of performers, each with a shorter selection, would be more generally acceptable. But as it was the programme was very entertaining indeed and we are sure that the remainder of the contemplated series will be well attended.

Neosho Valley Notes.
We were made to say that the missionary meeting would be on the "20th," when it should be the 20th. A number of tramps passed last Saturday night in the Union school house. Entrance was effected by prying open the windows up. Mrs. Castor and Mrs. B. F. Clark are visiting relatives at Howard City. Mrs. Carrie Smith, of Labette county, is visiting her sister, Mrs. R. J. Lock, VALLEYTIDE.

Sky Rocket Serapings.
Winter has laid his icy fingers upon us at last, three light snows having already fallen, with prospects for more. Some corn is still in the field, and some out will have cold fingers while hunking it out. E. D. Jones has returned from Chicago, where he has been visiting a brother who is operating in the Board of Trade. He says he does not like the association of millionaires. The protracted meeting at Sky Rocket was almost a failure, only two persons having joined the Church. An oyster supper at Wm. Matlock's, was enjoyed by all who were present. Lyceum at Prairie Rose on Wednesday night of each week. Question for discussion on Wednesday the 10th, "Resolved, That there is more pleasure in the life of a slave, than that of a savage." Z. M. Walker, of Olive Branch, was married on the 7th ult., to a lady from Fort Scott.

The boys gave him an old-fashioned belting. May their lives be long and happy.

Savonburg Sayings.
Health is good. A splendid snow, and everybody lively. Young men, now is the time to make use of your sloughs. Mr. Henry Freed has built a new house on his farm one mile west of here, which adds much to the beauty of the place. S. Huff has purchased a new cultivator and drill combined. There was a festival at the church one mile south of here last Thursday evening. The number of attendants about two hundred. They cleared about $50, which goes towards finishing the church. Lewis Huff and wife, and Daniel Freed and wife, were up from Ft. Scott to attend the festival, also the M. P. minister, Mr. McAdams, of Moran. Our school is doing finely this winter. We think the Hill has gone back on Cliff, from the appearance of things, as we saw him alone at the festival. We think John McCray and Scott Murray are coming out on the sunny side at last. There was a meeting here last Friday and Saturday evenings and Sunday at eleven o'clock, on Charles Jewell and wife will move onto the Homer Jones farm before long, to stay until spring. Wallace Young, J. T. Butterfield and E. H. Snodgrass, were at Humboldt on business last week. S. Huff is offering a fine two year old colt for $40.

Home. He thinks he would rather live in the country than in town.

FAREWELL.
Oases Occurrences.
Editor Register:—I don't see anything from Oase lately, in either the REGISTER or CLIPPER. Are the regular correspondents dead, or are they frozen or snowed under? Please inform your patrons and much oblige a whole parcel of us. Well, it seems that winter has come in cold earnest to-day. Old terra firma looks queer to-day, dressed entirely in white robes, and only a few days since you could see farmers in all directions, plowing, and one thought spring farm work had fully set in. But O! to-day no granger feels like saying, "Gee up, Dobbin, or Ned," in the corn field. Not much, yet. One of our friends in Bourbon county, J. W. Vance, had the misfortune to have his house and its contents burned up on Friday night last. R. F. Baker is strutting around in his shirt sleeves, whistling, these frosty mornings, just as though it were "Spring time, gentle Annie." Well, it's a rattling big boy, that's it. Ya, that's why Rob don't feel the cold, and Lute is nearly as proud as Rob to think he is Uncle Lute at last. We are all proud in this neighborhood. The Free Methodists are having a big revival and protracted meeting at Spring Valley, Mo. Jim was out Sunday night, and was wonderfully affected. Aaron Hall, an old-timer of Ozark (now of Walnut), was snatching around amongst us last week, looking after that little balance due him for tape that he clipped while at Ozark, selling goods. There are several windings on the laps in our neighborhood, if the weather don't get too cold to freeze the necessary warmth that bring about such events. Kincaid is still booming; 20 to 25 business houses now in full blast, and not much over two months old.

HAWK-EYE.

Moran Matters.
There is very little matter with Moran this week. Christmas is near at hand and all are getting in a good humor for the holidays.

The social at A. C. G. Schockey's, was well attended, and a general good time enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Steele celebrated their tenth wedding anniversary on the evening of the 15th. About 10 invited guests were present, all of whom brought presents ranging from a carpet sweeper and big tin horn, to a tin pepper box. The donors did not confine themselves to tin alone, but brought in any thing they considered useful to a family. It is needless to say that all were highly entertained; for all who are acquainted with Mr. and Mrs. Steele, know that what they propose they perform. And a social at their residence, means a royal good time. Mrs. C. Clothier is entertaining her brother, Wm. Vanduzen, of New York, this week. Mr. Wilboughly, of Crawford county, is the guest of his son, Fred, our furniture man. A number of our citizens attended the trial of the man Howard this week in Iola. A. Weiss came to the front this week with a hog that goes one better than Lacy's, as it weighed net 300 pounds. The pigs were full brothers, and both bred by our friend J. N. Thompson.

The young ladies are making preparation for the supper on the 25th. They have secured the services of the best oyster cook in the county. So no one need be afraid their oysters will be scorched or spoiled in cooking, but come on and have a good time.
